GENERAL CONDITIONS OF USE

Every connection to the Sport en Commun (Sport in Common) digital platform (hereinafter, “the platform”) requires prior acceptance of these terms and conditions. For internet users (hereinafter, “the user” or “the users”), simply accessing the platform shall be considered to be acceptance of all the conditions described herein and as an undertaking to adhere thereto.

The platform publisher endeavours to ensure that the information on the platform is accurate and up to date, and reserves the right to correct it, at any time and without prior notice. It cannot, however, guarantee its completeness nor that it has not been modified by a third party (intrusion, virus). Furthermore, the platform publisher accepts no liability, be it direct or indirect, for any delay, error or omission with respect to the content of these pages and the use that may be made of them by any persons, nor for any interruption to, or unavailability of, the service.
Anyone wishing to obtain one of the services provided on the platform should contact the publisher for information about the availability of the service in question and the contractual conditions applicable thereto. Access to the services described on the platform may be subject to restrictions for certain persons or in certain countries.

None of the services provided on the platform will be supplied by the publisher to a person if the law of their country of origin, or of any other country concerned, forbids it. Readers of this message are requested to ensure that they are legally authorised to access this website in the country from which the connection is established.

PERSONAL DATA PROTECTION

Our aim is always to store your personal data in the safest and most secure manner, and only for as long as is necessary to achieve the intended purpose of the data processing. In this regard, we have the appropriate physical, technical and organisational measures in place to protect your data from any alteration, loss or unauthorised access.

The personal data collected via the forms on the Sport en Commun platform are processed for the purpose of managing user requests and associated services, and/or managing the platform’s marketing and promotional operations.

Dissemination of these personal data is limited to the Sport en Commun platform publisher, which undertakes to take all the necessary measures and appropriate precautions to ensure the protection and confidentiality of the personal data. In this regard, under no circumstances may any data collection file be assigned or transferred to a third-party company, regardless of the form of the assignment or transfer.
In accordance with Republic of Senegal Act No. 2008-12, of 25 January 2008, you may request that any inaccurate, incomplete or outdated data be corrected, updated or deleted. You may also object, if you have a legitimate reason to do so, to the processing of your personal data, it being understood that any such objection may make it impossible for the platform publisher to provide the requested or subscribed service. These rights may be exercised by writing to: SPORT IMPACT SAS – Rue 4 x Rue A Immeuble les Arcanes – Point E Dakar – Senegal, or by sending an e-mail to: contact@sportencommun.org.

Your personal data remain strictly confidential and protected. We have appropriate operating systems and procedures in place, and we use technical and physical restrictions to limit access to your personal data and the use thereof. Only personnel authorised by the platform publisher may access your personal information for the purpose of carrying out their functions within the framework of our services.
